Stores To Close During Festival

Penney's and Piggly-Wiggly Take Lead In Half-Holiday Move.

Nearly, if not all, stores in the city of Hope will be closed Thursday afternoon, according to announcement today by the general committee, open in the forenoon only as a matter of accommodation to the general public and to furnish resting places for many.

J. C. Penney & Company and Piggly-Wiggly, together with Weltman's Millinery, take the lead in this move, announcing their plans to close whether other places do or not.

The closing hour is set just prior to the parade and all business houses are urged to observe the half-holiday.

Citizens May Help

Citizens of the city and county are requested to play the part of the courteous host and see that all visitors are served properly and in plenty. And as a word of warning to home folks it is suggested there will be no reserved seats at the pageant and coronation ceremony. The only seats available will be held for honor guests and newspaper representatives.

Land Speakers Ready

J. W. Dalrymple, of Little Rock, has completed installation of loud speakers and amplifiers, the same being made available to the city through the courtesy of C. J. Griffith, vice-president of the Arkansas Power & Light Co.

The Evening's Show

Promptly at six o'clock the gates at the park will be opened for admission of those who desire to see the boxing contest. Tickets purchased earlier in the day down town will be honored, or may be had at the gate.

News Reels Taken

Representative of the Paramount feature film people arrived Wednesday morning and has made his locations from which to "shoot" his scenes and, in company with local photographers, will be on duty at the park for the pageant and coronation ceremonies.

Flood Instructions

Official cars and cars in parade above No. 25 float will find places on East Second, east of Shover street. From Camden Band to No. 31 float will find places on Shover street between Second and Third. All other cars and lands find numbers consecutively placed on Third street, east of Shover.

Numbers will be plainly chalked on curb.

Arrests Follow Investigation By State Fire Marshal

Charles Crosnoe and G. Cook Under Bond for Hearing.

WOMAN ARRESTED

Mrs. Verna Wiltse Also Placed Under Bond of $3,000.

Following practically three months investigation by the State Fire Marshal's office into a fire which destroyed the Wiltse home and furnishings on East Second street here last May 1, Charley Crosnoe and G. Cook, both well known here, and Mrs. Verna Wiltse who owned the property, have been arrested and are at liberty under bond of $3,000 each pending preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Huntley here Friday morning, August 9, on a charge of arson.

The arrests were made by Sheriff McRae and Deputy Porter on warrants sworn out by John Carter, State Fire Marshal, under whose direction the investigation had been made. An insurance policy of $5,700 was carried on the house and furniture and the company issuing the policy is resisting payment, it is said, because of the alleged incendiary origin of the blaze.

Neither Cook nor Crosnoe nor Mrs. Wiltse have made any statement other than to say they are free of guilt in connection with the charge and at the proper time will have no difficulty in establishing their innocence.

Southern Objects To Competition

Oppose Permit for New Ice Company to Operate In Hope.

Little Rock, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Hearing of an application for the New Ice Company to manufacture and dispose of ice at Hope before the Arkansas Railroad Commission today was postponed, pending a proposal for settlement.

The petition was resisted by the Southern Ice & Utilities Co., already operating there, on the ground that it was satisfactorily supplying the field.

Festival History, Briefly Told

The story of Hope's annual Watermelon Festival would be, of necessity, brief—but none the less interesting. For its growth, from a modest beginning a few years back to a position of outstanding prominence of the state's premier events today—has been made possible only through earnest endeavor of citizens of this county.

To John S. Gibson goes the credit of originating the plan. Several years ago he offered a modest prize for the largest watermelon brought to Hope in that year. The following year this was repeated, with a greater degree of success. Then the World war came along and the annual event went into the discard for the time being, along with many other things.

But after the war it was regained and the interest prize stimulated grew and continued to grow until in 1926 the annual production of the largest melon became more than a community affair. Then year by year it grew until today it stands at the premier of state events, attracting nationwide attention.

The prizes awarded have grown in keeping with importance of the

Jadwin Retires After 39 Years

Chief of Army Engineers, 64, Goes On Retired List.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Edgar Jadwin, author of the adwin plan for flood control of the mighty Mississippi, came to the end of a distinguished army career today, retiring as the only Lieutenant General on the retired or active service list.

His career was a record of outstanding achievement which brought him honors from America, British, France and the Polish governments and culminated in his appointment as chief of army engineers.

He was 64 years old today and retires under the age provisions of the army after being in service 39 years.

VOLUNTEERS WANTED

The Festival committee is seeking volunteers. Men who can wield a wicked butcher-knife and know just how to slice melons. The list yesterday comprised only a few of those who will be needed. Just sharpen up your sleeves and advise the committee you are ready to wade in and help make the Festival the success it should be.

Don't wait until it is all over. Do it now. Tell the committee to count on you to do your share.

Graf Zeppelin Off At Midnight On World Journey

Home Port First Landing On Flight Around the World.

LEAVE AT MIDNIGHT

Passengers Ordered to Be At Hangar At Four O'Clock.

LAKEHURST, N. J. Aug. 7.—(AP)—A company of adventurous souls prepared to embark today on a history-making voyage, the circumnavigation of the globe in the Graf Zeppelin.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the air ship, ordered all passengers to be at the hangar at four o'clock, p. m., though the actual start of the around-the-world journey was not expected to be made before midnight.

Some of the passengers booked will not make the complete flight, disembarking at the end of the first leg of the journey which will be Friedrichshafen, Germany, the Graf Zeppelin's home port, where its return will signal the fourth successful crossing of the Atlantic.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—(AP)—The Weather Bureau forecast shows general fair flying conditions for the start tonight of the Graf Zeppelin's flight around the world. Skies around Lakehurst, it is reported, will be overcast, with north to northwest winds.

The Highbinders Are Here for the Festival

James, of the clan Montgomery, eased into town this a. m. wearing a pair of stripped-down pajamas and carrying big bag-pipes and yo-yo. He tooted a few doleful notes on the pipes, placed them tenderly on the sidewalk and declared himself as official representative of Hendrix as a yo-yo fiend.

Bill Carrigan got him called forth with, as did divers and numerous other yo-yoers of parts, and Major Basil Newton with a squad of "A" Company bucks with ball cartridge and fixed bayonets will supervise the yo-yo contest, corner Second and Main, some time during the Festival. All entrants will be searched for dirks and revolvers before going into the contest.

Local Boys Bid for State Honor

Winston Cobb and Nolan Lewallen Capture District Competition.

Two Hempstead county boys scored district victories in the dairy feed demonstration at Farmers' Week, Fayetteville, and were bidding for the state championship, according to advises yesterday.

They are, Winston Cobb and Nolan Lewallen, Hempstead county 4-H club team. The boys captured honors in the Southwest Arkansas district competition and moved into a contest with other district winners to determine the state winners—who will be given a prize trip to the National Dairy Show at St. Louis.

GOVERNOR IS HOST

Arkansas Executive Will Entertain Visiting Executives.

Governor W. J. Holloway, of Oklahoma, will officiate as Master of Ceremonies at the fourth annual Watermelon Festival in this city tomorrow, presiding at the coronation ceremony and delivering the principal address of the day.

Governor Harvey Parnell will extend to visitors a welcome to the Festival, speaking in behalf of the state and the city of Hope and Mayor Pat Robison, of Little Rock, will bring to Hope a message of good-will and best wishes from the state's capitol city.

The ceremonies of crowning the Queen, presentation of her Maids of Honor, the pageant depicting Hempstead county yesterday and today will occur at Fair Park at 2:30 in the afternoon, following the parade arrival. The parade moves from up town promptly at one-thirty.

Paramount Man To Film Festival

News Camera To Catch Highlands of Today's Parade and Feast.

Motion pictures of the fourth annual Watermelon Festival will be made today by Fred Bockelman, staff cameraman of Paramount News, who arrived in Hope last night from Dallas.

Mr. Bockelman was assigned the Hope Festival as one of the most widely known outdoor spectacles in the Southwest, and when he finishes up his work here today he will have several hundred feet of film depicting the parade of floats, the historical pageant, and many amusing sidelights of the watermelon feast on the Southwest Arkansas Fair Grounds.

While in the city Mr. Bockelman is the guest of Jack Eaves, manager of the Saegeer theatre. The showing of the Watermelon Festival film, which is always rushed back to Hope at the earliest possible date, is of keen interest every year.

Three Specials Due In On L. & A.

One L. & A. Booster Has Not Missed A Festival and Will Not.

Three special trains are expected in this morning from points on the L. & A. bringing Louisiana visitors to the fourth annual Watermelon Festival.

According to information received late last night, the trains were being made up at Alexandria, Shreveport and Minden. B. S. Alford, of Minden, well known railroad man who has not missed a Watermelon Festival since the celebration was first begun, arrived in Hope last night with the report that there would be a larger attendance than ever from North Louisiana points.

"Somebody told me this was the third annual Festival," Mr. Alford said with a twinkle, "and I just had to correct 'em—because I've already come to three."

Time for Drastic Action

IT IS nothing less than horrifying to read that 5000 children under 15 years of age were killed in the United States last year by automobiles. That makes a rate of a little better than 12 a day; and as if that were not bad enough, 400 children were hit by autos and badly injured each day in the year.

Those figures should constitute a challenge to the whole nation. Yet we aren't greatly moved by them. If some catastrophe should kill 5000 children at once—well, that would be different. The country would insist that steps be taken to prevent such a tragedy ever happening again. But this thing isn't so dramatic and impressive, and it seldom excites us.

But it should. Figure it out in terms of your own children. Think of what it would mean to you to have your child struck and killed on the street before your eyes—and then remember that that pitiful, heart-rendering sort of thing happens somewhere 12 times every day in the year.

The plain fact of the matter is that a death rate like that is simply too high a price to pay for the use of automobiles. If we are to continue as a motorized nation we simply must find out how to use our autos in some safer way.

The solution probably will be expensive. It may be that we shall have to make over the residence district of every city and town in the country, so that the through traffic can be by-passed. Perhaps we shall have to spend millions of dollars on playgrounds, so that children will not have to play in the streets. It is quite possible that we shall have to adopt extremely drastic new regulations to govern traffic.

Whatever the solution is, however—no matter how much it may cost or how drastic it may be—it is high time we adopted it. No single problem that the nation faces is more important. If we are a civilized people, we cannot keep on killing children at the rate of 5000 every year.

Peace Pacts and War Machines

THERE are few more energetic workers for the world peace than H. G. Wells, the famous British novelist. But Mr. Wells is a trifle pessimistic about the prospects; and the reasons why he is pessimistic, as set forth by him in a recent radio address in England, are worth giving here.

He points out, to begin with, that while peace is being given more enthusiastic lip service all over the world now than ever before, military armaments are also getting more attention. Italy, France, England, America, Japan—all have signed the Kellogg pact, but in each one preparation for war goes on unabated.

"At present," says Mr. Wells, "we have in the world enough of the most beautiful and powerful apparatus you could imagine to crush, smash, drown, suffocate, poison, blister, scald, rip up and tear to pieces 30 or 40 million people—in which 30 or 40 million quite a number of my hearers tonight may confidently count themselves. And every day men of the highest intelligence and the greatest energy are adding to that equipment. It can be replaced as it is used up. It can be extended.

"Such considerations as these throw ever so faint a shadow, even in the most optimistic minds, upon the confidence we should like to feel about the Kellogg pact. I hate to suggest a doubt of my fellow-creatures, but—did the governments that signed the Kellogg pact really mean it when they signed it?"

That is a question that will take some answering. All that Mr. Wells says is true enough. There are more deadly engines of destruction in existence today than ever before and they are constantly being added to. Why, if we are to "outlaw" war?

Peace isn't gained by signing impressive treaties and doing a lot of talking. It has to be worked for—one might almost say, fought for. The Kellogg treaty is a step in the right direction, but only a step.

A Newspaper

A NEWSPAPER is the most unique institution in the history of the world. It is the only business enterprise, conducted upon business lines and in a perfectly legitimate manner, that actually serves the progressive life of the state more than all other institutions of the country put together and without cost to the public or state. It is still more peculiar in that regardless of the profit it makes for owners it is of more profit to the community. There is no newspaper today that is not making far more profit for the community and the state than it does for itself. And this profit to the community is the result of a service in news and editorial space freely given in the interest of public progress. Destroy the newspapers of the nation and you have lost the greatest influence of progress in the field of industrial, civic and moral life that exists today.—Pennsylvania Express.

Little Rock To Send Big Crowd

Missouri Pacific Special
Will Bring 1,000 To Festival.

LITTLE ROCK, Aug. 7.—Plans have been completed by officials and various booster organizations of the Missouri Pacific Lines to accommodate about 1,000 employees of the railroad on the "Booster Special" train, which is to leave between 7:30 and 8 a. m. Thursday for the annual watermelon festival at Hope, it was announced Wednesday morning.

The train will consist of about 12 coaches and about 700 employees of the railroad are expected to leave Little Rock on it. Stops will be made at Benton, Malvern, Arkadelphia, Gordon and Prescott, where about 300 more will be picked up.

Among the company officials who are expected to leave on the special are: General Superintendent W. E. Brooks, whose private car will probably be on the train; W. E. Lamb, superintendent of the Arkansas Division; E. H. McReynolds, St. Louis, editor of the Missouri Pacific Magazine; I. M. Brown, St. Louis, field editor of the Missouri Pacific Magazine; J. M. Wilkinson, St. Louis, field editor of the Missouri Pacific Agricultural Bulletin; John T. Stinson, St. Louis, director of agricultural development, and Louis Prieur, Little Rock, chief booster.

The employees will not be required to have passes to ride on the special train, Mr. Prieur announced, and the only identification necessary will be booster badges.

The SHINING TALENT By ELEANOR EARLY ©1929 BY NEA Service Inc.

THIS HAS HAPPENED Molly Burnham's love life is all upset. There are two men in Molly's heart, Jack Wells, a poor young architect, whom she truly loves, and Red Flynn, a reporter, with whom she has written the play that made her famous.

Newspaper people pre-suppose a romance with Red, and write various stories, anticipating Molly's marriage whom she truly loves pleasant notoriety incenses Jack, and he and Molly quarrel. Then Red writes her a letter, protesting that he is crazy about her, but will never be in a position to ask her to marry him. His mother is an invalid, and Red has promised he will never marry while she lives.

On top of her distressing amours Molly encounters tragedy, when she visits Rita Newton, a college classmate. Rita says the doctors have given her a year to live. She

Local Ball Team Has Won String

Tangle With Texarkana Tiremen In Deciding Game of Series.

The local Missouri Pacific ball team has chalked up a healthy string of wins this year, taking 16 while losing five. The Texarkana athletes have dropped five but have placed only 15 in their winning column. Each has won one of the two games played and today they hook up in the third and deciding game of the series.

The game will be called at 4:30 at Fair Park and a crowd of fans is expected to be out to witness the contest. Schooley, with last year's Melon Growers, is mound ace for the Boosters and will be on the firing line today.
